

In 2005 Barbara withstood a crippling divorce. She arrived at the BH with nothing except her two little girls and a hard work ethic. She hit the ground running and immediately found work. Five months later she was back on her feet and left for a place of her own.

She and her daughters stopped by the other day just to say, "Hi." The Bridge House was "wonderful and helped me so much. They were just what I needed."
She's still has a job she loves and is very happily remarried. Way to go Barbara!
