

Often folks enter the Bridge House with a good work history but no high school diploma. They've hit hard times through catastrophic events such as job loss, have little or no social capital, and end up at a homeless shelter.

One of the programs offered at the Bridge House is the GED through the Literary Task Force housed at Whole Village. The volunteer math tutor on the left, Lindey Kinerk, works with an appreciative Bridge House participant.

It's never too late to graduate!
