

Bridge House senior participant, Millie, enjoys teaching cooking and crafts to other guests. She prepared all the organic vegetables grown in the backyard garden this summer and is responsible for whipping up the delicious meals served to the community at large on Thursday evenings before the parenting classes.

After evening chores, she can often be found teaching a knitting or crocheting project to one of the other women.

She works in housingkeeping at Days Inn. Due to decreased tourist volume her hours have recently been cut from fourteen to six.

She is now number three on the waiting list for Plymouth Terrace Apartments.
