

Kay with her two of her three daughters and assisted by seven-year old Emma, encourage one-year old Haley as she takes her first steps. Haley's mother was still at work when this picture was taken.

Community often develops between participants and as Emma recently wrote for a presentation, "Living at the Bridge House feels like one big family."

Emma's family is number three on a waiting list for housing and her mother is now employed full-time.

Haley's mother has full-time minimum wage employment and is much further down on a number of housing lists.

Kay will probably move to Laconia when a family apartment becomes available. The children's father recently acquired seasonal work at a ski resort in the area. Two of her three are now in day-care. The baby is on a waiting list. She will start part-time employment next week.
